☎ Call Today: +1 (855) 535-4580 — Another frequent frustration involves aggressive upselling and confusing pricing. Many users report steep price increases after the first year of subscription, with automatic renewals catching them off guard. The "Smart Scan" feature has also been criticized as being more about upselling additional services than reporting real security issues.

Additionally, the VPN service included with Guardio does not work in certain regions, and the Safe Web extension provides inconsistent performance depending on the browser. 📞 Call Today: +1 (855) 535-4580 — Privacy and transparency concerns have also been raised by users. Some customers report that Guardio collects browsing data even when tracking protection is disabled, and others have noticed significant increases in data usage after updates. The dual-interface design has been criticized as confusing—users must navigate between the dashboard and advanced settings to access all options. There are also complaints about Guardio becoming too aggressive with notifications and feature prompts being pushed constantly.
